2nd CALL OF ARTICLES

1 ABOUT THE JOURNAL

1.1 The Revista de Direito Contemporâneo UNIDEP (RDC-U) (Journal of Contemporary Law UNIDEP) is a biannual electronic scientific journal maintained by the Centro Universitário de Pato Branco (UNIDEP), with the aim of disseminating and encouraging scientific production, promoting academic debate from an interdisciplinary perspective. The journal aims to promote, in a primordial way, the discussions about the interrelationships between Law, technology and technological innovations, added to the others discussions in vogue in the legal scenario in our times.

1.2 The journal's editorial line is that of Contemporary Law, which, in turn, brings together two important lines of research:

a) Law and Technological Innovations: this line of research proposes the promotion of academic debate, under interdisciplinary perspectives, regarding the interrelationships between Law, technology and technological innovations, identifying problems in this connection and, when possible, suggesting ways and resolutions.

b) Law Updates: this line of research aims at the promotion of academic debate, under interdisciplinary perspectives, regarding diverse situations in the national and international legal scenario, such as contemporary theoretical and practical discussions and recent doctrinal and jurisprudential positions.
